Poster Presentation on Different Social Problems in Society

Date: 14th October 2023

Objective:

The primary objective of the Poster Presentation Program organized by the Department of Sociology on 14th October 2023 was to provide a platform for students to explore, analyze, and present solutions to diverse social problems. The chosen themes—cybercrime, crime against women, farmer issues, and environmental problems—were selected to encourage a comprehensive understanding of the multifaceted challenges faced by our society.

Event Overview:

The event kicked off at [mention the start time] in [mention the venue], featuring a series of engaging presentations by students. The goal was to foster awareness, critical thinking, and discussions around the chosen social problems, encouraging participants to delve into potential solutions.

Presentations and Outcomes:

1. Cybercrime:

- Presentations on cybercrime against women addressed the various facets of online harassment, privacy breaches, and the psychological impact on victims. Students offered insights into the need for legal reforms, awareness campaigns, and digital literacy programs to combat this growing concern.

2. Crime Against Women:

- Discussions on crimes against women explored the societal roots of gender-based violence. Students highlighted the importance of education, community involvement, and legal advocacy in creating a safer environment for women.

3. Farmer Issues:

- The farmer issues segment focused on the challenges faced by our agricultural community, emphasizing the need for sustainable farming practices, fair policies, and improved access to resources. The discussions aimed to raise awareness among students and inspire advocacy for the rights of farmers.

4. Environmental Problems:

- Presentations on environmental problems delved into the impact of climate change, pollution, and deforestation. Students advocated for individual and collective action, stressing the urgency of sustainable practices to protect the environment for future generations.

Participant Engagement:

Audience engagement was a key highlight of the event, with lively discussions and insightful questions during the Q&A sessions. The interactive nature of the presentations facilitated a deeper understanding of the social problems and encouraged a sense of collective responsibility.

Outcomes:

1. Increased Awareness: The program successfully raised awareness among students about the intricacies of cybercrime, crimes against women, farmer issues, and environmental challenges.
2. Knowledge Exchange: The event provided a platform for students to exchange knowledge, ideas, and perspectives on the chosen social problems.
