Report of the Activity

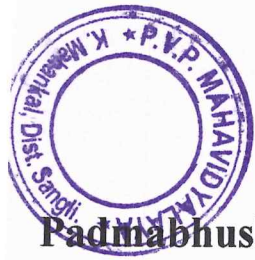

Title	Guest Lecture on 'Democracy, Power, and Social Justice: Analyzing Contemporary Political Issues'.
Day & Date	Tuesday, 16, January 2026
Organizer	Padmabhushan Vasantodada Patil Mahavidyalaya, Kavathe Mahankal. The Department of Political Science
Co-ordinator	Mr. N. S. Waghmare Co-ordinator, Department of Political Science.
Background	As a part of the academic curriculum, the Department of Political Science organized a guest lecture on "Democracy, Power, and Social Justice: Analyzing Contemporary Political Issues." The lecture aimed to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of key political concepts such as democracy, power structures, and social justice in the context of contemporary society. In the present era, political theory has expanded to address real-world issues like inequality, representation, marginalization, and governance challenges. The session was designed to help students critically engage with how democratic systems operate and how power dynamics influence social justice outcomes in modern political processes.
Objective	To familiarize students with the core concepts of democracy, power, and social justice. To analyze the functioning of democratic institutions in contemporary society. To understand the role of power relations in shaping political and social outcomes. To examine issues related to inequality, representation, and social justice. To enhance critical thinking and analytical abilities among students.
Conclusion	The guest lecture proved to be highly informative and intellectually stimulating for the students. The resource person explained the intricate relationship between democracy, power, and social justice in a clear and engaging manner. Students gained valuable insights into how power structures operate within democratic systems and how they impact issues of equality and justice. The session encouraged active participation and critical discussion, enabling students to develop a deeper understanding of contemporary political issues. Overall, the lecture successfully bridged the gap between theoretical knowledge and practical realities, thereby enriching the academic experience and broadening the perspectives of the students.
