By bringing together existing members and fresh faces, the event set the tone for active student involvement and highlighted the vibrant community within the department.
Objective	The main objectives were to introduce the newcomers to faculty and senior students, outline the department's goals and literary activities, and foster a sense of community and enthusiasm for literature.
Conclusion	The program successfully welcomed new members, built connections among students and faculty, and inspired active participation in the department's upcoming initiatives. Participants left better informed about their academic journey ahead and more connected to both their peers and faculty.
